

ChildrenFlow, in partnership with the Child Development Training Consortium, is happy to invite you to the following interactive online training:

Culturally and Linguistically Responsive Classroom Environments and Systems to Support Multi-Language Learners (MLLS) and to Collaborate with Their Families (Body I-MLL)

What is this training about?

During this training faculty learn in-depth strategies to support their students in creating engaging culturally and responsive learning environments and systems to support multi-language learners.

Learning objectives of this training include the following:

- Build a strong classroom foundation to support MLLs and collaborate with their families.
 - Create culturally responsive learning environments to support MLLs and collaborate with their families.
- Intentionally plan the use of curriculum to support MLLs and collaborate with their families.
 - Create classroom management strategies to support MLLs in collaboration with their families.

Upon completion of the training and evaluation survey, participants will receive a complimentary book and a digital handout of the training.

Additional training topics and dates will be announced soon!

When will this training take place?

You may choose from one of the following dates:

| Date | Time | |
|--------------|------------------|--|
| September 29 | 1:00pm - 4:00pm | Click here to Register |
| September 30 | 9:00am - 12:00pm | Click here to Register |

We look forward to having you join us in this very interactive learning experience!